Atlam

Crafted for your last first date and beyond

Unlike traditional dating apps that focus solely on matchmaking, Atlam provides tools and features designed to help couples navigate and enhance their relationships over time.

We are the first and only services on the whole market who developed a fully equipped app which not just a dating app, but also a relationship management service. With that we can support and serve the users after stepping into a relationship as well and basically keeping them on our platform and community for a long term.

If you're single, our compatibility checker and other AI powered tools and services will guide you toward the best match. But if you join the app as a couple, our relationship management tools will help you to take your bond to the next level powered by our Ai Coach. As a result we do not only help people to find the right person, but we also offer long-term support with our AI powered relationship management features.

Our Cyprus-registered company, TPGCS Atlam Technologies Ltd, started operating 2 years ago. The product has been present on the Hungarian market for more than 1 year and has also started operating on the US market.

Our vision and plan is to connect our AI powered dating platform with our freshly created Atlam token.

We will give governance rights to our token holders and moreover they will instantly get premium services and other benefits on our dating platform.

Furthermore our company and application platform can strengthen the token and vica versa. In addition we will develop a VIP application exclusively for specific token holders (Tier 8 and 9) in order to give the power and comfort to take place into strategic planning and future decision making processes.

The Problem

Not the right partner

The majority of dating sites recommend partners based on appearances, so users develop inappropriate relationships in the long term.

User retention

The fundamental problem with dating services is that they cannot retain users in the long term.

A difficult initiative

It is difficult for the majority of users to find the methodology that can lead to a sure success in the getting-to-know-you process.

Our solution

Atlam

Smart Dating

Developed in collaboration with psychologists and relationship experts, measures compatibility based on users shared visions and core values.

Relationship management

We are the world's first service that not only helps you meet the right people but also helps you maintain your relationship with power of Al

Playful engagement

Our interactive prompts not only break the ice but also allow users to add personalized responses to their profiles. Making interactions more enjoyable and meaningful right from the start powered by AI.

Dating + Relationship management = Atlam

Android and iOS

Developed in collaboration with psychologists and relationship experts.

Family and children

Competitors

Unlike its competitors, Atlam provides matchmakers with a nicer, more transparent user interface, and profiles are constantly verified. Thanks to Smart Dating, compatibility measurement is much more detailed and accurate than competing dating apps.

Advantages

Compatibility

A test consisting of 66 questions selected by a psychologist based on 10 cardinal aspects, with which we can assess a user's vision of the future and values also how they are see a world.

AI wingman

Ai Wingman is a help tool for starting conversations. It helps the user make specific openers based on the partner's profile.

Perfect match

Every week, we recommend 2 people to the user who are at least 80-85% compatible based on the Smart Dating questions.

Relationship management with AI

We introduce an idea in the dating market which can help reduce the churn rate which is a huge problem for the dating apps.

Advanced filter

20 filter options. Compared to competing dating sites, we offer users more important and detailed filtering criteria.

Easy dating

To start a conversation, a true-false game, topic ideas given based on interests, and the possibility of answering a unique question.

Atlam Token

With the integration of blockchain technology, Atlam introduces its own Solana-based token, which serves as the cornerstone of the ecosystem. The Atlam token grants users access to premium features, fosters community participation, and introduces a governance model where token holders have direct influence over the platform's evolution.

The Token and Ecosystem

Unlike conventional in-app currencies that serve a single-purpose, the Atlam token has multiple use cases that extend beyond simple transactions. The token is positioned to become a powerful tool for users, enabling a range of functionalities from premium feature access to community governance.

We plan to have a 2% of development found for diverse development purposes. Furthermore 1% will be kept for organizing the entrance into more CEX platforms. In addition 5% will go for different marketing activities and services from third party firms.

Utility and Benefits

Atlam tokens serve multiple functions within the ecosystem, making them a valuable asset for users.

The primary utilities include:

- Access to Premium Features: Users can redeem tokens for premium in-app services, including enhanced matchmaking, priority profile visibility, Al-driven relationship coaching, and compatibility assessments tailored to their needs.
- Governance and Voting Rights: Token holders can participate in decision-making processes related to the app's development, such as introducing new features, selecting expansion markets, and funding additional software projects.
- Exclusive Content and Rewards: Higher-tier users gain early access to new features before they are available to the general public.
- Staking and Incentives: Future development plans include a staking mechanism that allows users to earn passive rewards by holding their tokens in the Atlam ecosystem. Stakers will also receive special perks such as VIP matchmaking services and additional governance privileges.
